HER BASHFUL
HUSBAND IS 35

Ironton Woman Weds Monroe City Admirer at St. Xavier's Church.

IT'S HER THIRD VENTURE

First She Becomes a Catholic Before the Ceremony Is Performed.

BRIDE REPUTED WEALTHY

Husband, Drug Clerk, Said to Have Been "Best Man" 79 Times.

George W. Raney of Monroe City, Mo., and Mrs. Virginia C. Ironton, Mo., were married at 2 p. m. Tuesday at St. Xavier's Church, Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard.

Mr. Raney, aged 35, behaved bashfully, although he is reputed to have taken part in many weddings in a secondary capacity. Mrs. James, who is 65 years old, was coy, although it was the fourth time that she had been a bride.

The couple were driven from the Mober Hotel to the church in a closed carriage, to which were hitched two black horses, and there was nothing about the vehicle to draw attention to the occupants.

When the carriage stopped at the curb Mr. Raney sprang out quickly and gallantly assisted Mrs. James to alight, where they were met by Rev. Father James Sullivan of St. Louis University and Rev. Father John Lyons, formerly of Monroe City.

The ceremony was performed without delay and the couple emerged from the church and reentered the carriage and were driven south on Grand avenue.

The bride wore a silver gray figured silk dress, with cape to match, a gray hat, silver gray veil and a long white feather boa.

The couple obtained their marriage license Monday, but they did not plan to get married until Tuesday, because it had been arranged for Mrs. James to embrace the Catholic faith Monday night. This she did at St. Xavier's Church, the sacrament being administered by Rev. Father James Sullivan.

Noticed at Hotel.

The couple took dinner Tuesday at the Mober Hotel, where Mrs. James has been stopping, and attracted a good deal of attention. They were dressed, for the ceremony.

After dinner they started to the elevator to go to their rooms and complete their toilet for the ceremony. Mrs. James stopped long enough to say that she did not have time then to give details about the wedding.

Mr. Raney being behind as though he was willing to talk, but Mrs. James said she was not in the mood for conversation and he followed her into the elevator.

Mr. Raney has a round, smooth face, looks amiable and wears his hair hanged. Mrs. James has good features and is fairly well preserved and her manner is vivacious.

Mrs. James is reputed to have considerable wealth, most of which was bequeathed to her by her third husband, who was Rev. Thomas J. Lyons, formerly of an Episcopal church at Ironton. He died three years ago. The name of her first husband was Stone and her second husband was Peter R. Crist, a druggist. Raney had been employed as a drug clerk at Monroe City. He became acquainted with Mrs. James a year ago when she was visiting relatives in that vicinity.

OIL TRUST A PRIVATE THING
SAYS LAWYER

Waters-Pierce Attorney Says Its Affairs Like Those of Individual.

"ONLY PUBLIC CLAMOR"

Remarks Cause Lively Tilt at Inquiry and Are Then Withdrawn.

OTHER STATES AWAKEN

Attorney-General Expects Revelation Here to Cause Other Suits Elsewhere.

That the affairs of oil companies are as properly private as the personal affairs of an individual was the contention of John D. Johnson, one of counsel for the defense at Tuesday's hearing in the Supreme Court proceeding to annul the charters of the Standard, Waters-Pierce and Republic oil companies.

"The testimony which is being taken," declared Mr. Johnson, "merely caters to the public excitement. It makes no difference what part Mr. H. Clay Pierce owns of the stock of any company. He is not the issue."

Tuesday's hearing, conducted in room 84 of the Southern Hotel by Judge R. Anthony, followed the lines of Monday's deposition taking in the office of Notary Charles H. Tolles on the Kansas City injunction suit, to prevent the combination of the three companies.

Charles B. Collins, former confidential secretary of H. Clay Pierce, until recently president of the Waters-Pierce company, who testified Monday that two-thirds of the company's dividends, amounting to 300 per cent or more on the $400,000 capital stock, were paid to the Standard Oil Co., were called to testify to the same fact.

Asked by Attorney-General Hadley as to the disposition of the dividends of the Waters-Pierce company, he told of the payments to the Standard and of his visits to New York carrying the dividends to be transmitted to 38 Broadway, the famous headquarters of the Standard.

Objections Overruled.

Judge H. S. Priest and Attorney Johnson made objections during this recital, but Judge Anthony allowed the Attorney-General to ask such questions as he desired.

"This testimony is not being taken in good faith for the actual purposes of an injunction proceeding," said Mr. Johnson. "It is merely to satisfy public clamor."

"The Attorney-General has no intention of carrying the proceeding at Kansas City to a conclusion," Mr. Johnson continued.

Attorney-General Hadley interrupted with:

"Any statement that I am not acting in good faith in this matter is utterly false."

After a disavowal by Mr. Johnson of his intention to reflect on Mr. Hadley of the Standard Oil Co., he said:

"I did not desire to start a deposition mill. I offered to argue the Kansas City case before the Circuit Court there. The defense would not agree to that."

The newspapers have published these proceedings, as they have a right to do, and if the company is injured it is not my fault.

"The Supreme Court has a right to know, the people of Missouri have a right to know who holds the stock of the Waters-Pierce company, which is the creature of the State, existing under the laws of the State."

"The people have a right to know if the holding of nearly all the stock by Mr. Pierce is a mere subterfuge. If this is so, the Waters-Pierce company has a good reason for wishing to keep its affairs from public knowledge."

"We consider the affairs of the company as private as the personal affairs of an individual," said Mr. Johnson in reply.

Trust Methods Shown Here.

Attorney-General Hadley believes the investigation begun by the State of Missouri has revealed for the first time the methods of the Standard Oil Co., and that the way has been paved for other states, as well as the United States Government, to take a hand in the inquiry into Rockefeller trust methods.

In an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday Mr. Hadley said the facts brought out before Notary Charles Tolles show clearly the methods by which the Standard Oil Co. dominates and controls subsidiary concerns and thus prevents competition.

"When it is shown," said the Attorney-General, "that the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, with headquarters at 28 Broadway, is the virtual owner of oil companies heretofore supposed to be independent, or at least not shown to be subservient to Standard Oil interests, other States will join in this fight and I believe, too, that it will engage the attention of the Federal Government."

"The testimony already taken discloses the way in which the Standard, Waters-Pierce and Republic companies have been controlled."

FIRE KILLS MOTHER
AND FIVE CHILDREN

Head of Household Escapes After Vain Effort to Save Family From Burning Home at Port Royal, Franklin County—Cause Sought.

Mrs. Alice Hartman and her five children were burned to death in their home at Port Royal, Franklin County, in a fire which quickly destroyed the building. Her husband, William Hartman, escaped from the burning building, but was unable to save any of his family. News of the tragedy reached Clayton Tuesday through William Guekes, a Justice of the Peace at Orville, and through William Corliss, also of Orville.

The tragedy occurred about 1 a. m. Monday, according to Justice Guekes. He says Hartman told neighbors that he was aroused at that time by his wife, who said that she smelled smoke. Husband and wife and a baby in arms were sleeping on the first floor of a two-story frame building. At the rear was a one-story lean-to used as a kitchen.

When the flames were extinguished the charred bodies of the six victims were found in the kitchen. The authorities of Franklin County are conducting an investigation into the tragedy.

The oldest of the children was a girl of 12.

Port Royal is a village of 75 inhabitants on the Rock Island road, 35 miles west of St. Louis. The authorities of Franklin County are conducting an investigation into the tragedy.

Hartman had been employed as foreman in Killman Bros. limelime for several years.

Hartman said he tried to follow, but the flames spread so rapidly that he could not go up the stairway on the side of the room nearest the kitchen.

The house was dry and burned like tinder, and the wife and five children were unable to escape. It is thought probable that the four children had been suffocated by the smoke before their mother went to their rescue.

49 AMERICAN GIRLS SOLD TO
RICH CHINESE

Chicago Dealer Delivers Victims in Shanghai Through Woman Confederate.

GOVERNMENT IS TO ACT

Immigration Bureau Hears Complaint of Sale of Louise Miller.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 17.—Forty-nine American girls from Chicago have been sold into life slavery in Chinese harems. Most of the white slaves delivered into the hands of Chinese masters are lost to civilization and can hope for no escape from their bondage save by suicide.

They are helpless prisoners in Chinese interior towns subject to the whims of Mandarins and wealthy Chinamen who were enabled to purchase them through connivance with a woman whose identity is well known to the Government authorities.

The dealer who delivered the girls into their slavery resides in Chicago and has a woman confederate in Shanghai, China, who is also known to the Government secret service agents.

These astounding facts were disclosed today by the local immigration bureau, which received complaint of the sale of Louise Miller, a girl from Montreal, Canada, to the agent of a Chinese official in Shanghai.

Lured to a Resort.

Other evidence obtained indicates that three waitresses who were induced to come to Chicago in February, 1901, from Montreal, may have met the same fate. These girls were employed in the Hotel De Ville, Montreal, two French women, stopping at the hotel as guests, engaged the girls to come to Chicago and lured them to a resort.

The names of the four young women that have disappeared from homes in Chicago and other American cities and were shipped to Shanghai are in the possession of Inspector K. W. Burst of the Chinese Immigration Bureau.

American Consul James L. Rodgers at Shanghai has enlisted the co-operation of English and Chinese authorities in that city, and evidence of many sales of American and Canadian girls to Chinese masters has been procured.

Hilda P. Edson, aged 20, of Chicago, committed suicide on arrival at Shanghai in order to escape the fate of being a slave to a Chinese master.

The fixed price for Chinese girls slaves at Shanghai is from $20 to $40. The price paid by the Chinese men for the American girls betrayed into their hands by the two women engaged in the traffic varies from $500 to $1000 a piece.

It is possible demands for the liberation of the young women by the American Consul may make the affair international. The British Consul is co-operating with Mr. Rodgers in his efforts to procure the liberty of the girls.

"YOU'RE TRYING TO MAKE A FOOL OF ME"
SAID ANGRY M'CURDY

"No Use Commenting On That Which Is Obvious" Coolly Retorted Lawyer Hughes of the Insurance Committee Continuing to Question Mutual Life's President.

"YOUR INVESTIGATION IS AN INQUISITION"

"It Is Indeed" Is Reply of Attorney to Protest of Insurance Man Against Methods Employed to Secure Facts About Manner of Doing Business.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—"You are trying to make a fool of me," yelled Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., at Lawyer Hughes, counsel of the Legislative Insurance Investigating Committee, this morning, and in his excitement he stood up in the witness stand and waved his fists in the air and stamped his feet.

"No use commenting on that which is obvious," coolly retorted Hughes, and then, after waiting for the spasm of rage into which this threw the witness to subside, he added: "What we want is for you to tell us to the best of your ability some of the line along which your company is conducted."

This exciting passage between the insurance president and the attorney of the committee occurred soon after the committee resumed its sessions today, and afterward McCurdy settled into a dogged determination to tell nothing.

It developed at today's session of the insurance investigation that the Mutual Life Insurance Co. paid house rent at Albany for A. C. Fields, an employee of the company, during the legislative session.

How the Row Began.

The tilting between President McCurdy and Lawyer Hughes began soon after the committee met, and when the insurance man kicked about the scope of the investigation.

Mr. Hughes announced that the committee had received a large number of letters relative to the dividends on the policies of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. Some of them Mr. Hughes read to the committee, saying those he read were from policy holders in New York City.

One writer who had taken out a policy in 1875 for $3000 on the 10-payment life plan, said his dividend in 1876 was $5.75. In 1881 it was cut to $3. In 1882 it was reduced to $2, and in 1883 to $1. This the writer said was in the face of the reserve increasing year after year.

Mr. McCurdy said Mr. Hughes had the wrong witness. It was the actuary who looked after the calculation of dividends. Had he been notified a day ahead he would have been fortified with this information.

McCurdy Complains.

Mr. McCurdy complained that this investigation was going outside of what was contemplated when the committee was appointed by the Legislature. He said he understood this was to be an investigation of insurance methods, not an inquisition.

Mr. Hughes replied that it was, indeed, an inquisition.

"We will have occasion to call your actuary, but you have been in the insurance business for 40 years. I want to learn what you know about your company," said Mr. Hughes. "You are its president and receive $150,000 in salary. I want to learn for what you are responsible."

McCurdy Gets Hot Shot.

"You are trying to prove me a fool," the witness retorted. "Without comment on that which is obvious, let me ask you to tell us to the best of your ability some of the lines on which your company is conducted," said Mr. Hughes.

Mr. McCurdy insisted that his actuary must answer the questions on dividends paid and how they are calculated. He declined to enter any explanation further than that the policy holders alone referred to held a reduced rate policy.

Mr. McCurdy said if a copy of the policy holder's letter was furnished him he would have the matter looked up.

Another Hot Tilt.

Mr. Hughes said the reason he took up this subject with Mr. McCurdy instead of actuary was that Mr. McCurdy had submitted a great many figures to show the increase in salary of the witness was due to the great prosperity of the company. Mr. McCurdy many times "declined to answer" questions by Mr. Hughes.

"I don't want your discussion," said Mr. Hughes. "If you say you don't know we'll accept the answer."

"I decline to discuss the question," witness said.

"Do you know?"

"I decline to discuss the question."

"Do you refuse to answer the question?"

"I decline to discuss the question when I have proffered you a witness whose business it is to know all of these facts you are looking for."

Other letters from policy holders were read to Mr. McCurdy showing a gradual reduction of dividends, and he replied that possibly the decrease was due to the approach of maturity of the policy. Questioned further to explain what he meant, he again refused to "discuss the question."

Chairman Armstrong then asked the witness what relation the approach of the maturity of the policy had to its earning capacity, and witness refused "to be drawn into a discussion." Chairman Armstrong then said he did not think that Mr. McCurdy comprehended the scope of the committee, and that if the committee desired his judgment of the insurance business the witness should be glad to give it.

Protests Hughes' Methods.

Mr. McCurdy again proffered his actuary to furnish the information desired. He protested so strongly against the manner in which the investigation was being conducted that Chairman Armstrong asked witness how he would conduct it.

"I don't know. Don't impugn the motives of this committee of which you are the worthy chairman."

"If there is a better way of conducting it," said Chairman Armstrong, "we would be most happy to learn it."

Senator Tully asked the witness if he thought the committee was too tough in its investigation, and the witness replied that he did not.

"Putting a witness under oath and making him feel that he is on the rack, he is apt to produce incorrect answers. His answers, he said, were published in a distorted manner that looked like an attempt to ruin him."

"Why should a witness shut his mouth up," he continued, "when a witness comes here and tells frankly all that he knows the committee should consider such testimony in executive session to see what further steps should be taken, but to attempt to drag from a witness any further than he knows makes him well like a original."

Reduction of Dividends.

Returning to the question of reduction of dividend witness again declined to give a direct answer.

"Figures don't lie, but liars can figure," was Mr. McCurdy's reply, after Mr. Hughes had read a long list of policy numbers, with the amount they were taken out for, the amount paid in and the dividends received by the policy holder. Mr. McCurdy continued:

"You have a right to get your case in your own way, Mr. Hughes. I have not followed the figures. They are too many for anybody to follow. I have no doubt that all these statements and figures can be explained by the proper persons. I do not attribute any lie to any of them. I say it facetiously. Well, let's see what you do to reduce expenses of your company. Do you reduce salaries?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"Well—er—here there was great laughter."

"You're entitled to that laugh," he said. "Let me see how can I answer that?"

Mr. Hughes then brought out their salaries had been slightly reduced in the reforms of clerical force and his agencies. He said he had not reduced the salaries of the executive officers; they were never cut. They were made too fat any way," said Mr. McCurdy.

Hyde to Testify.

The committee was notified today that James H. Hyde is ready to appear before the committee.

The committee has also been notified.

TWO WOMEN HURT IN CRASH OF TROLLEYS

Scores in Peril When Cars
Collide in Washington Avenue.

EXPLOSION OF AIR TANK

Panic in Which Frail Woman Is Knocked Down and Trampled.

IS INJURED INTERNALLY

No Medical Aid Given Victim
for Fifteen Minutes—Cars Blocked.

One woman was injured internally, another's thumb was dislocated, a score of passengers were bruised and five car lines were tied up for 30 minutes Tuesday morning by a collision between crowded trolley cars at Ninth street and Washington avenue during the rush downtown.

Mrs. Albert Inman, a widow of 2290 Lucas avenue, was the most seriously injured. She was thrown down by the force of the shock, a heavy man fell on top of her and before she could rise she says that several men trampled on her.

When the panic subsided she was unable to get up, but was helped into a store, where she remained for fifteen minutes before an ambulance was summoned.

She says that during this time several employees of the trolley company asked her name and address, but did not offer to aid her, though she told them that she was suffering severe internal injuries.

Patrolman Pearson, when told of her condition, called an ambulance from the dispensary and was sent to her home, where a physician attended to her.

Passengers in Heap.

Mrs. Inman was standing near the center of the eastbound Page car which crashed into the side of a northbound Cherokee car. She was talking to Mrs. Jennie Williams of 2221 Washington avenue when the collision occurred. She says the shock threw the passengers who were standing into confused heaps. Mrs. Williams' thumb was dislocated.

To add to the excitement and panic the air tank of the Cherokee car exploded with a noise like the discharge of a cannon. Then the passengers crowding aisles and platforms began fighting and struggling to leave the car, paying no attention to those who were on the floor. Mrs. Inman is a slight woman and she was utterly helpless. She remained on the floor of the car until the other passengers had left, when she was helped to the street by Mrs. Williams and was carried into Friedman Bros' shoe store.

The Cherokee car, in charge of B. C. Wilson, conductor, and A. H. Brown, motorman, had about sixty passengers and was almost across the intersecting tracks when struck by the Page car, in charge of Motorman J. H. Edmonston and Conductor A. V. Jones.

Cars Badly Crippled.

The Cherokee car was hit about even with the rear trucks, shoving it from the track, tearing its trucks off, breaking an axle and smashing several windows. The vestibule of the Page car was smashed.

The men aided the women passengers from the car and all hurried away. The accident occurred at 7:50, during the most crowded hour.

In addition to the Page line, the Delmar, Compton and Park avenue lines use the tracks in Washington avenue.

A blockade followed the accident, the cars on the eastbound track extending west as far as Twentieth street. Passengers on those cars had to walk to their destination or go to other parallel lines.

A HILL TALE

A Blunt Old Colorado Miner on Postum

A clergyman may be eloquent, may use the choicest language, dressing his earnest desire to help his fellowman in the most elevated, chaste and beautiful language, and yet not touch the hearts of his hearers. Another man, having little education and no grace of speech whatsoever, may tell his message in the common, everyday vernacular he is used to, and the simple faith that glows within him carries quick conviction with it. Such a man writes from the towering peaks of Colorado, preaching of Postum.

"I had drunk coffee all my life until it about killed me, when I concluded to try Postum, and in a short time I got relief from the terrible misery I suffered from coffee."

"When I drank coffee I bloated up so that I could not breathe at times; my nerves were so shaky that I could not hold myself still."

"But thanks to Postum I am all well now and can say that I hope to remain so."

"I was very much disgusted with it the first time I tried it, but had it worse stronger and boiled longer till it tasted as good as good coffee."

No account of rhetorical frills and literary polish could add to the convincing power of the old miner's testimony. Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Beady-eyed Doll had no exorcise Tuesday. She had to lie still while her baby mother, Elsie Sheats, 18 months old, fought for life at her home, 1009 Ohio avenue.

Little Elsie, while playing with Beady Eyes, found a bottle of carbolic acid Monday on the kitchen table and drank a part of its contents.

One physician said the child could not live, and several times through the night those who nursed her thought death was near. Tuesday there was hope for her.

Elsie is her grandmother's girl. Her mother, for whom she was named, died when Elsie was but 2 days old, and Mrs. Mary Creed took Elsie, Hazel and Charles, usually called "Bud," into her home, although she has brought up 19 children besides her own nine.

Mrs. Creed left Elsie alone for a few minutes Monday. She heard a little scream and saw the child running toward her with the carbolic acid bottle in one hand and the stopper in the other.

The carbolic acid had been used for cleaning purposes and placed on the table. Mrs. Creed had seen the bottle earlier in the day, and by mistake had carefully put away a medicine bottle which was by its side.

Mrs. Creed left Elsie alone for a few minutes Monday. She heard a little scream and saw the child running toward her with the carbolic acid bottle in one hand and the stopper in the other.

The children who were playmates are "Bud," her boy uncles, Tom and Bob, and Myrtle, a little girl who used to live in Mrs. Creed's home.

They are assisted by Grandpa Creed, who talks of the apron with a pocket that Elsie always wore on payday.

OIL TRUST'S METHOD FIRST SHOWN HERE

Waters-Pierce and Republic oil companies do business in Missouri.

"The Waters-Pierce handles the southern half of Missouri and the Standard the northern half."

"In the territory of each of these companies the Republic Oil Co. is used to crush out competition, and to sell such trade as will not buy from the Waters-Pierce or Standard Oil."

"The testimony has also disclosed the disreputable spy system and other acts of unfair competition by which the Standard Oil Co. has secured its monopoly of the oil business in this and other states."

"So complete is that monopoly in Missouri that for years we have been paying more in taxes than our competitors in adjoining states."

"The remaining point to be covered in this case is the proof of the method of control."

"The importance of the testimony developed yesterday is marked in both what was testified to and what was not testified to."

"The testimony of Mr. Collins shows conclusively that about two-thirds of the stock of the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. is owned by the Standard Oil Co."

"The willingness of Mr. Adams to incur the danger of going to jail rather than answer questions put to him shows the deep concern of the Standard Oil Co. in this proceeding. It at least shows a lack of frankness on the part of Standard Oil."

"The only question asked of Collins by the defense was whether he had been discharged from the Waters-Pierce company's employ."

"The hearing adjourned for lunch at 12:30 p. m., leaving for argument by attorneys later in the day the right of the court to compel the Standard Oil Co. to produce the company's books in court, and a similar order on Manager Mayer of the company's Kansas City branch."

"The investigation into Standard Oil methods began last spring was resumed Tuesday before F. A. Anthony, special commissioner appointed by the Supreme Court. The special inquiry began Monday by Notary Tolles in connection with injunction proceedings by Attorney-General Hadley has been continued."

"On the result of the former proceedings depends the life of the Waters-Pierce, Standard Oil and Republic Oil Co., so far as Missouri is concerned. If the charters of the companies are annulled, as requested by Attorney-General Hadley, they will be compelled to leave the state."

"Charles M. Adams, secretary of the Waters-Pierce stock, as told in last edition of the Post-Dispatch, was taken into custody by Special Notary Tolles Monday evening, following refusal to answer questions as to the ownership of Waters-Pierce stock, as told in last edition of the Post-Dispatch."

"Charles M. Adams, secretary of the Waters-Pierce stock, as told in last edition of the Post-Dispatch, was taken into custody by Special Notary Tolles Monday evening, following refusal to answer questions as to the ownership of Waters-Pierce stock, as told in last edition of the Post-Dispatch."

"The investigation into Standard Oil methods began last spring was resumed Tuesday before F. A. Anthony, special commissioner appointed by the Supreme Court. The special inquiry began Monday by Notary Tolles in connection with injunction proceedings by Attorney-General Hadley has been continued."

On the result of the former proceedings depends the life of the Waters-Pierce, Standard Oil and Republic Oil Co., so far as Missouri is concerned. If the charters of the companies are annulled, as requested by Attorney-General Hadley, they will be compelled to leave the state.

CASH CALLS ARTIST F. L. STODDARD EAST

Only Mural Decorator in St.
Louis Going to New York
in November.

WANTS COMPETITION

"Comfortable Living All Here,"
He Says, "and There's Danger of Ruts."

Frederick L. Stoddard, the noted mural artist, is about to leave St. Louis for New York, partly because he "can't earn more than a comfortable living here," and partly because he "wants the stimulation of being among the best of them."

Mr. Stoddard was seen Tuesday by a Post-Dispatch reporter while at work on the decoration for the Yeatman High School.

"Wait just a minute until I get this done," he said, head on one side. "This thing looks positively tiny now; I have to make it hard on account of the position it will have. If I didn't it would look mushy."

"I expect to leave for New York soon after this is finished—some time in November. You see a fellow is likely to get into a rut if he doesn't rub elbows with the big fellows. I feel that if I am to make progress I must have competition. There are no other artists in St. Louis who devote themselves to mural decorating exclusively."

"And then I find it impossible to make more than a comfortable living here. In St. Louis there is not enough demand for mural work to keep a man busy all the time. I would rather have to work harder and have constant occupation."

Mr. Stoddard does not attach any significance to the sequence of the numbers in the number of his studio—233 Washington avenue.

"Twenty-three means 'skidoo' as slang," he explains, "and surely no one is superstitious enough to object to 13 these days."

The panel for the Yeatman School, on which Mr. Stoddard is now engaged, is the same size as the memorial in the McKinley High School. The central panel represents James E. Yeatman, for whom the school was named. In the act of healing wounded soldiers, typifying his peace mission, he is shown with his arms outstretched.

The loss by fire of "The Road to Paradise" at the Portland Exposition has not ceased to be a source of grief to Mr. Stoddard.

This painting took the prize at the Exposition here, and was valued at $50,000. It was destroyed by fire on Monday, Oct. 14, in the fact that it missed the change from his first "manner" to that which he now uses.

"Painted things before, now I paint ideas," is the way he explains it.

SENTENCE FOR JOE WHITE

Postoffice Inspectors Glad He Is No Longer at Large.

HE PLEADED GUILTY

Old Man Who Helped Bob Hall
Summit Postoffice Takes Fifteen Months.

Joe White, alias Joe Moore, pleaded guilty before Judge Marshall in Jefferson City Tuesday and was sentenced to 15 months in the Penitentiary for robbing the Postoffice at Holt Summit, Mo., a year ago.

The Court made the sentence light because of the advanced age and impaired health of the defendant.

Leader of Robber Gang.

In the conviction of White, postoffice inspectors believe they have sent to the Penitentiary a most desperate and dangerous safe-blower and postoffice robber. They declare he is the leader of a gang which operated extensively in Central Missouri for more than a year.

White's trial was taken up by inspectors several months after the robbery of the postoffice at Holt Summit, Mo., Oct. 7, 1934. Inspector A. D. Bunsen, who was assigned to the case, on examining the general store of Perry Holt & Son, in which the office was located, found only a large hole in the floor and the remnants of the safe. The robber had entered the cellar of the store, cut a hole through the floor, blown the safe and taken the contents, not more than $17 in stamps and money.

Last December the Sheriff of Callaway County received a letter signed "C. M. Holt." It was written in the jail at Sparta, Tenn., and declared that the writer and his "pal," who was also in jail, had robbed the office at Holt Summit, and were ready to come to Missouri for trial, rather than remain in jail in Sparta on a charge of which they were not guilty.

Before this letter reached Inspector Bunsen "Holt" had been tried on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and released. The other man, William Wilson, was convicted of that charge and sentenced to serve 60 days in jail. He was brought to Missouri at the expiration of his sentence and placed in jail at Jefferson City. In less than a week he escaped, but was immediately recaptured.

Inspector Bunsen learned in Sparta that "Holt" had paid his attorney with one of two gold watches stolen from the safe at Holt Summit, and a check signed by Mary P. Houk of Hillsboro, Mo. He learned that Mrs. Houk had a "black-sheep" brother, who had gone under the name of Joe White. It was then that the search for White began.

A sharp lookout was kept for him in the vicinity of Hillsboro, and it was finally learned that he had spent one night in that vicinity a few days before he was captured.

Both Slain in Duel.

Traveling Men Quarrel Over Poker
Game and Shoot.

CHICAGO, Miss., Oct. 17.—Two traveling men, Jake Glenn of Greenwood, Miss., and A. Spratlin of Memphis, fought a duel on the street here and both were killed.

The duel was fought over a poker game in which Spratlin accused Glenn of cheating. Glenn told Spratlin he would have to retract, and Spratlin's answer was: "Go and shoot yourself."

Later they met in front of the Wilson House. Spratlin began to fire, shooting four times. Each of the bullets entered Glenn's body, and death was almost instantaneous. Before he fell Glenn managed to draw his gun and fired twice, inflicting mortal wounds on his slayer, who turned and ran into the store of Roby & Jones. Roby, who had witnessed the duel, went up to him and tried to

PINIONED UNDER BIG LOCOMOTIVE

C. & A. Fireman Rescued With Jackcrews After Hour
and a Half.

ONLY A CRUSHED FOOT

Marvelous Escape From Death
by Man Under Derailed Engine at Roodhouse.

Clyde Sharp of Roodhouse, Ill., a Chicago & Alton fireman, was pinioned for an hour and a half at Jerseyville, Ill., early Tuesday morning, under a big freight engine, which jumped the track and turned over.

His foot was crushed and the great bulk of the engine pinioned his body and pressed upon it, but not heavily enough to crush him.

When he was finally rescued with jackcrews it was found that only his foot was injured.

The engine was derailed by a southbound freight, which reached Jerseyville at 5 o'clock. The engine was detached from the train and went into the siding to get a couple of cars. As it was coming out of the siding it left the track.

Engine Formed a Bridge.

The wheels on the left side sank so deep in the cinders that the engine turned over on its side.

Sharp and the engineer, Wesley Titt of Roodhouse, jumped. The engineer was not hurt, but the fireman was caught by the overturning engine. That he was not crushed, however, was due to the engine forming a little bridge, part of it resting on cinders.

The work of rescuing him was difficult and dangerous. It had to be done very carefully to avoid causing the engine to settle down more on Sharp's body and crush it. Once, after the engine had been raised a little, a jackcrew broke and the engine settled back, but Sharp was not hurt.

When Sharp was finally rescued he was taken quickly to the office of Dr. Witterington, where it was found that his crushed foot was his only injury. He was placed on a passenger train and sent to his home.

GOLD AT STREET CORNER.

Diggers Unearth Nuggets at Tenth and Chestnut Streets.

Workmen digging in an excavation at the southeast corner of Tenth and Chestnut streets have unearthed a number of gold and silver coins, a small pouch containing gold nuggets, and some pieces of what appear to be human bones. Jobs are now at a premium there.

The latest find was made by C. M. Culberts, 1718 South Broadway, Tuesday. He dug up a piece of bone and a tooth. The bone was black and crumbled as it was struck by his shovel. Only a small, round, inch-long tooth with the tooth set solidly in it was left. To all appearances the tooth is from a human.

Culberts' shovel also unearthed a small pouch containing four or five small gold nuggets. The pouch fell to pieces. The nuggets were found to be pure gold.

C. J. Robertson of 1115 Benton street found an old French 5-franc coin bearing the date of 1742. J. F. Spencer of 414 Easton avenue found a gold coin. It is a trifle larger than a half dollar and has an eagle and seven stars on it, leading to the belief that it is an American coin.

SOLD ARMY'S COAL.

Quartermaster Sergeant on Governor's Island Arrested.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—As the result of a scandal involving the entire quartermaster's department at Governor's Island, Post Quartermaster Sergeant Arthur R. Alexander, a veteran of the Cuban and Philippine campaigns, is under arrest pending the completion of an investigation which has been in progress since Sept. 17. The scandal involves discrepancies in cash disbursements and the selling of coal through the quartermaster's department to civilian residents on Governor's Island.

Inspector-General Miles, after making his examination of the books of the quartermaster's department early last month, discovered a discrepancy of between $400 and $500 in the accounts. His report was followed immediately by the arrest of Alexander.

Strenuous efforts have been made to keep the scandal from becoming public. Friends of Sergt. Alexander declare he is not to make him a scapegoat to shield men of higher rank, and they threaten full disclosures.

TENEMENT BLOWN UP.

Dynamite in Doorway of New York Tenement Injures Many.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A charge of dynamite exploded in the doorway of the grocery store of Antonio Garbalvo, 314 East 10th street, on the East Side, a few minutes after 3 o'clock this morning, wrecked the lower half of the front of the building, shattered the windows in the tenements above and threw into panic hundreds of tenants in the neighborhood.

No one was dangerously injured, although many bruises and cuts were received in the hurry of the frightened tenants to escape the scene after following their sudden awakening.

The outrage is believed by the police to have been directed against Garbalvo, who, with his two sisters, occupies the living rooms at the rear of his store. Garbalvo, a week ago received a "Black Hand" letter demanding $500 from him. He turned the letter over to the police, who have since been attempting to identify the author.

MISS ALICE PAYS DUTY ON PRESENTS

President Says Must Be Treated as Private Citizen—
Gifts Worth $100,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Secretary Shaw and the Collector of Customs of San Francisco have had a load of trouble for several weeks about which the public has known nothing, but it was lifted today.

The trouble was on account of the presents which Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the President, has received during her trip to the Philippines, China, Japan and Korea. She has been given many pretty and some valuable presents. One newspaper reported several weeks ago that the actual value of her gifts is about $100,000. She has received valuable silks in China and Japan, and wherever she has gone gifts have been showered on her.

If the usual rate of duty was imposed it would cost Miss Roosevelt or her father more than $50,000. Neither Miss Roosevelt nor her father are wealthy, although the young woman is understood to have a modest fortune in her own right.

Secretary Shaw finally took his burden to the President and told him about it.

"There is only one thing to do," replied Mr. Roosevelt, "that is to treat my daughter's baggage as you would the baggage of any other private person. She will pay duty on everything that is dutiable."

Members of the Titt party say the value of Miss Roosevelt's presents have been exaggerated. But whatever the value it will be determined by the local appraisers in San Francisco or the port at which she lands.

COURSUING AT CHAPMAN.

CHAPMAN, Kan., Oct. 17.—Of 249 listed pupils for the Futurity of 1905, 144 paid-up nominations will go to slip tomorrow in the largest stake ever run in the United States. St. Louis is represented by two nominations, Red Squirrel and Black Squirrel, owned by R. E. Miller. The amount of stake to be run for is $200. E. A. Fisher of Winfield, Kan., will judge, and James Nee of Denver will slip. The entries represent 11 States, with one from England.

KILLS NEIGHBOR'S DOGS.

Rockefeller Institutes Bounty System of Getting Rid of Canines.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 17.—John D. Rockefeller has been inaugurating a number of reforms at Boxwood, where he is living.

In addition to maintaining a special patrol to keep visitors from driving or walking over his domain and building an iron fence, miles in length, to enclose Boxwood, he now has a number of his employees armed with shotguns to kill dogs that stray upon his place. Italians and negroes are acting as special patrols, and Rockefeller gives a bounty of $2 for every mongrel killed. The patrolmen, however, have killed a number of valuable hunting dogs and now there is trouble brewing. Several hunters who lost pointers threaten to sue Mr. Rockefeller for the loss of their animals.

THREW BEEF IN BOX BELLE'S LAP

Sothorn's Vigorous Petruchio Nearly Spoils First Night Performance.

A news telegram from New York announces that E. H. Sothorn and Julia Marlowe gave an astonishingly spirited performance of "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Knickerbocker Theater Monday night—so spirited, indeed, that

Mr. Sothorn threw a cut of beef clear of the stage and into the lap of a young society woman sitting in a box. The incident came near bringing disaster to the opening night of the Sothorn-Marlowe season, but the laughing audience finally quieted down sufficiently to permit the further progress of the play.

Critics agree that Mr. Sothorn and Miss Marlowe are excellent as Petruchio and Katherine, but add that nothing occurred to efface the memory of Ada Behn and Otto Skinner in the same roles. The supporting company is commended, save that in some instances the reading of Shakespeare's lines is said to have been faulty and slipshod.

REFUSED BURNES ESTATE CASE WRIT

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 17.—The United States Supreme Court has settled the long-drawn out will contest among the heirs of the $3,000,000 Burnes estate here by refusing a writ of certiorari to Lewis C. Burnes and certain other of the Burnes heirs.

The Supreme Court refused to entertain an appeal from the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Eighth Circuit. Accordingly, the finding of the Court of Appeals stands, and Frances B. Burnes, Marjorie Burnes and Kennet Burnes are the victors in a family war of litigation.

The case was started in 1903, when the respondents, Frances B. Burnes and Marjorie Burnes, filed in the Circuit Court for the St. Joseph division a bill in equity to set aside a transfer made by the Burnes estate, incorporated, of 25 shares of the stock of that corporation, valued at $1,500,000, to Kate H. Burnes and Mary Burnes, and the transfer of the same stock in trust for James N. Burnes Jr. and others.

The contest is based upon the will of Daniel D. Burnes, dated April 14, 1867, in which he bequeathed to James N. Burnes and Calvin Burnes his entire estate, and directed that they adopt his six children as their heirs. The decision of the Court of Appeals was in favor of Frances Burnes and the respondents represented by her.

The decision of the Supreme Court today ends the litigation, so far as the present contest is concerned.

NO MOSQUITO BITE FOR ROOSEVELT

Precautions to Prevent Stegomyia Getting at President on Southern Trip.

TOUR BEGINS WEDNESDAY

Cars Will Be Screened and Surgeon in Attendance at New Orleans.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—President Roosevelt will start on his Southern trip at 8:30 Wednesday morning.

Surgeon-General Dixon will go along to see that the danger from yellow fever is minimized. Care will be taken to exclude mosquitoes from the private car and it will be fumigated in the afternoon and before the President returns. At the hotels where the President will be entertained the same precautions will be taken.

Mr. Roosevelt will not remain in New Orleans over night. He will go aboard the cruiser West Virginia. Dr. Rixey has prepared to set out operate on the President should he be bitten by a stegomyia mosquito, cauterizing the wound immediately to kill possible fever germs. No danger, however, is anticipated.

At Birmingham, Ala., where a visit will be made, the Confederate Veterans have arranged to hospitably welcome the President on his arrival there. They will decorate him with a handsome Confederate badge. It is to be pinned on him by the niece of the famous Confederate Admiral Semmes, Miss Sophia Wittichen.

The President will deliver an address.

The Stay at New Orleans. The President is due to arrive in New Orleans at 9 o'clock in the morning, when he visits there. Presumably, with such care taken on his train, no mosquito will have any chance whatever before that hour.

After arrival he will rest a short time and then will proceed to Lafayette, there to deliver a speech. While he is talking the abilities of secret service men and members of the Reception Committee will be engaged in detecting the presence of a vagrant mosquito as in guarding against possible attack by any active anarchist.

It is not yet finally decided how far South Mrs. Roosevelt will accompany the President. At present it is planned that she will go the entire distance, as far as Little Rock, Ark.

$14.40, New Orleans and Return, $14.40 Via Illinois Central, Oct. 17. Equally low rates to other points in the South; return limit 21 days—stopovers.

WORSHIP OF WEALTH. Prof. Heller Criticizes Some Americans in Defending Goethe.

The attitude of many Americans toward wealth was attacked by Prof. Otto Heller, Ph. D., of Washington University, in his address before the St. Louis Congregational Club at the Buckle Hotel Monday night on "Goethe, a Type of Culture."

In discussing Goethe's attitude toward royalty, Dr. Heller said that the poet had been caricatured as showing servility to "duodecimo princes." If this were true, he declared, Goethe would still be beyond criticism of such Americans as "bow down to ignorance and vice when they are escorted by a plump pocketbook."

Dr. Heller also spoke of the power of wealth as "transforming institutions of freedom into instruments of riotous corruption."

The remarks concerning wealth were incidental to an address which dealt with the many-sided culture of Goethe as scientist, philosopher and literary man, and which touched on the singular lack of enthusiasm shown by the poet toward the political movements of his day.

Judge D. D. Fisher presided at the meeting, which was attended by 100 members and guests.

LIGHTNING MAKES RAILS. Bolt Shatters Oak Tree, a Landmark Near Reservoir Park.

A magnificent oak tree, a landmark of the Reservoir Park neighborhood, is in splintered ruins, and surrounding trees and shrubs are laid low, as the result of Monday afternoon's thunderstorm.

The oak, which was 50 feet high and three feet in diameter, was completely shattered by lightning. Pieces of wood were scattered for 30 feet in yards along Lafayette avenue, and near the blasted trunk were found rails as well adapted for the fireplace in size as if they had been sawed and split.

The tree stood near Lafayette avenue, between Theresa and Louisiana avenues.

GEN. CHAFFEE HOME. American Commander Reports on European Trip to the President.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Gen. Chaffee returned to the War Department from his visit to Europe, where he observed the maneuvers of the French army.

He went to the White House to tell the President how well he was treated in France. Gen. Chaffee said he had not declined an invitation to dine with King Edward, for the very good reason that he was not invited.

What One Woman Learns. Mrs. Jones: "Well! Land sakes alive! If you are not cooking on that miserable coal range again."

Mrs. Smith (with a sigh): "It was so cold this morning that I was in doubt about my gas range and enough heat."

Mrs. Jones: "You certainly have enough heat now."

Mrs. Smith: "Yes, it is dirty in here now and disagreeably warm; let us move to the next room."

Mrs. Jones: "I have one of the cleanest and most comfortable kitchens. I cook with gas."

Mrs. Smith (excitedly): "Mrs. Jones, please tell me how to do it."

Mrs. Jones: "It is very simple. When cooking, ordinarily the gas range furnishes sufficient heat. But to provide for additional heat, I placed a small heating stove in my kitchen."

Northern Alaska Fur Co.

Fashion in Furs. Not every house which deals in Furs is thoroughly prepared to show everything which Fashion decrees as correct for this season—and Fashion in Furs is as arbitrary as in any other garment. Carried-over stock from a past season they must sell, so wisely say little about Fashion in Furs. Not being manufacturers, they cannot alter except at second-hand.

Northern Alaska Fur Co. Now at 517 Locust St., are manufacturers; they buy the raw skins, have them dressed by experts, then, in their own factory, cut and make up every piece on sale. Hence ladies are assured of absolutely correct and up-to-date styles at prices which eliminate all intermediate profits between the dealer in pelts and manufacturers to you. We show Furs from every source, and show the largest stock west of New York. We ask to be favored by an inspection of our showing.

John McGillicuddy, Constable of Justice O'Halloran's court, and better known as "Cuddy Mack," was discharged Tuesday by Judge Kleber in Wyoming Street Police Court on the charge of assaulting Andrew Wialon, a night watchman. Wialon said that about 11:30 p. m., Sept. 23, a man attacked him in front of Carmody's saloon on Eighth street, drawing a revolver. ## TEN ARE AWARDED CARNEGIE MEDALS

Applications Received for the Honors by the Hero Commission Were 12,000.

ONLY FIFTY EXAMINED

Most of Awards Were for Rescues of Persons About to Drown.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 17.—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, in gathering the data for the 10 awards made yesterday, sent George P. Camp, secretary and special agent of the commission, 12,000 miles and he looked into 50 cases, 40 of which were rejected. The 10 cases passed up to the commission were indorsed unanimously. It cost far to investigate than the total of awards. Ten awards were made for heroes in widely-separated parts of this country and Canada, as follows:

Daniel Davis, a coal miner, 28 years old, of Sherodville, O., lost his life in the rescue of his brother-in-law, William Skouras, for his heroism the commission awarded him a silver medal and $1000.
Wade H. Plummer, 15 years old, on May 7, 1904, on Lynch's River, near Lamar, S. C., saved a companion, John M. Gibson, 18 years old, from drowning, after a desperate struggle. The commission awarded him a silver medal and $500.
A silver medal was awarded to Michael A. Doyle, a ship laborer, 21 years old, of Quebec. On April 28, 1904, Miss Charlotte L. De Kaster, 17 years old, a student, attempted suicide by jumping into the St. Lawrence River, and he rescued her.
Miss Maude Titus, 16 years old, a student of Newark, N. J., was awarded a silver medal by the commission in recognition of her action in the saving from drowning of Miss Laura V. Reifender, 27 years old, a music teacher of East Orange, N. J.

White Woman Dies Saving Negro.

Mrs. Sadie L. Crabbe, 55 years old, of Gwynn's Landing, Va., lost her life on Feb. 1, 1905, while attempting to save from drowning a negro, 19 years old. Mrs. Crabbe is survived by her husband, Charles, a son 9 years, and three small daughters. The family is poor. The commission awarded a bronze medal and $1000 to be expended by the Executive Committee as it thinks best for the children.

Miss Anna Margaret Cunningham, 20 years old, a nurse at the Savannah Hospital, Savannah, Ga., was awarded a bronze medal for her part in the attempt to save from drowning George P. Pfanner, 9 years old, on July 8, 1904.

George F. Russell, 24 years old, a shipboarder of Crofton, Conn., was awarded a bronze medal for saving the lives of schoolboys, whose boat capsized with them off New London, Conn., on July 29, 1904.

Arthur J. Gotschalk, 24 years old, a hatmaker, of Foxboro, Mass., was awarded a bronze medal for the saving of the lives of three persons, who, on April 19, 1905, were thrown into a mill pond by the horse attached to their carriage when they were on the bank.

Arthur J. Gotschalk, 24 years old, a storekeeper, of Lancaster, N. J., was awarded a bronze medal for saving the life of Mrs. Joseph Webster, 38 years old, of Detroit, who fell from the Crofton Beach Co. pier at Bertie, Welland County, Ontario, Canada.

SAVING OF YEARS GONE.

Woman Left on Car Money That Was to Bring Mother.

After three months of painful saving Pauline Abramovitch, aged 19, lost her purse, containing $27.30, on a Lee avenue car Tuesday. She was about to send the money to her mother in Roumania, to enable her to come to St. Louis.

Pauline earns $5 a week as a finisher in a downtown clothing establishment. She has lived in a tiny room at 1302 Biddle street.

Three months ago she sent $30, to her sister in Roumania.

The sister wrote that she would wait until her mother could come with her, and the heroic girl renewed her hoarding of pennies.

When she reached her place of employment, the girl looked for her purse. It was gone.

In tears she went to the United Jewish Charities at Ninth and Wash streets. Montefiore Blumenthal, assistant secretary, notified the police and the United Railways Co. in an effort to find the lost purse.

TO SAVE DYING HUSBAND.

Colorado Woman Carries Him Up Mountain and Flies Train.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MONUMENT, Colo., Oct. 17.—Up a steep incline, bearing the limp form of her husband in her arms, Mrs. C. B. Wilson struggled a quarter of a mile to the Denver & Rio Grande, where she made such frantic gestures, the engineer of a fast freight stopped his train and took the dying man on board.

Mrs. Wilson, who is the wife of the station agent here, accidentally shot Wilson while hunting. He dropped to the ground insensible, but the plucky woman, although weighing less than 115 pounds, carried Wilson, who weighed 155 pounds, up the mountain side. When trainmen came to her assistance she fainted.

PANIC AFTER EXPLOSION.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—An explosion in the basement of the Flatiron Building, Twenty-third street and Broadway, caused something of a panic in the building and much excitement in the neighborhood last evening. Two employees received injuries.

At the minute of the explosion all the lights in the building structure went out, adding to the confusion of those inside, who rushed for elevators and stairways and made their way to the street.

The explosion was the blowing out of a boiler in the sub-basement, two stories below the street, filling the boiler room with steam, scalding two men seriously and others badly.

VERDICT FOR DOCTOR.

A verdict for the defendant was given by a jury in the Circuit Court at Belleville Monday in the case of Paul F. Klein against Dr. E. H. Little of East St. Louis, for $5000 damages for alleged malpractice.

The plaintiff alleged that the use of an arm was permanently impaired by the failure of the doctor to discover that a bone had been broken at the elbow. X-ray photographs were introduced to show the injury. The defense was that the doctor did not neglect anything in the treatment of the patient.

ROUSE THE GOVERNOR

Huge Crowd Compels Speech
at Hotel After Academy of Music Address.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—The coming of Gov. Folk of Missouri, the great bodie fighter, to Philadelphia, has thoroughly aroused the fighting spirit of the anti-graft forces.

Under the influence of impassioned speeches directed against the organization leaders who had listened to Gov.
Folk, a crowd of several thousand men angrily marched from in front of the Academy of Music, where Gov. Folk had spoken, to the homes of Israel W.
Durham and Senator McNichols last night.

For two hours the crowds had stood in the streets while city party orators rehearsed the iniquities of the machine, and then some one shouted: "Let's move on Durham."

As the Academy poured out its throngs there was a rush to the home of Mr. Durham on Spruce street, singing, "Let's hang Durham to a sour apple tree," and similar inciting songs,
the mob became more dense and terrible.

Never in the annals of Philadelphia politics was such an aroused public opinion shown as was manifested at the leader of the organization at the very threshold of his home. The street was packed from curb to curb with a hooting, angry mob that would have done violence had the occasion offered. The police were powerless to restrain the leader of the marching army, Charles Moore, who, standing upon a soap box, hurling the crowd and poured in-ham as a thief. There was a rush for the door, but some cooler headed speaker restrained the movement by saying that Durham had not yet moved into his new home.

"Lead the way to McNichols," yelled a man in the heart of the mob. And the mob was pushed back into Broad street by the onward rush of a new crowd which had come in from Spruce street. As the mob moved up Broad street recruits were picked up at every step. Arriving at Senator McNichols' mansion at 22 West Logan Square, the crowd was harrassed by George W.
Rogers, an evangelist.

One of McNichols' sons appeared in the vestibule.

"If these were the days of the commune, you, my lad, would be hauled out of that house and hanged to the nearest tree," shouted the evangelist.

"Your father, lad, is a thief. The house you live in was built with plunder stolen from the poor, and your father will do well to prepare to meet his God," continued the agitator.

A walk-around was organized in Logan Square, and more than a thousand men followed the city party banner as it was carried round and round the public park.

Crowd Rouses Folk for Speech.

From McNichols' house the crowd marched down Market street.

The Hotel Walton was the next objective point. From there they went to the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel and Gov.
Folk had to come to the steps and address them before they dispersed. The closing words of Gov. Folk's speech were drowned in hurrahs, and everybody rushed up the hotel steps to shake the hands of the Missouri chief executive. He was jammed and pushed before special policemen extricated him.

Academy of Music Packed.

Joseph W. Folk, Governor of Missouri, spoke to 5000 persons here last night in the Academy of Music, one of the largest theaters in the country.

The academy was filled by 7:30 and the policemen at the doors fairly had to fight with the crowd outside that was still struggling to get in. Fifteen minutes after the doors closed there were at least as many people on the outside of the building as there were on the inside.

At 8:15 the Governor, accompanied by Wayne McVeagh, former Attorney-General of the United States, came down Broad street from the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in an open carriage. The horses could hardly pick their way through the crowd.

Standing in the carriage Gov. Folk made a five minutes' speech which was listened to attentively, and then, while the crowd cheered and yelled like mad,
the carriage was worked around to the stage door in Locust street, where a crowd of policemen succeeded in making a narrow path through the firebranding mob on the sidewalk, enabling the Governor and his escort to walk
from the carriage to the stage door.

Once inside the academy, the Governor was greeted with the same wild enthusiasm. Auditorium, balcony and galleries seemed to rise a foot or two when the great reformer appeared on the stage, and such a shout went up that the whole building shook.

It was fully five minutes before the Governor could make himself heard, and after he had been introduced. Handkerchiefs, hats, canes, umbrellas were waved and it sounded as though every individual in the house was shouting at the top of his or her lungs.

There were many women in the audience and never has the academy held a more representative crowd of Philadelphians.

Folk Speaks.

Mr. Folk was introduced to the audience by former Attorney-General
Wayne McVeagh and said:

"The most conspicuous fact of municipal government in the United States today is that they are governments by the few and not by the people. There is more aggressive rottenness and less aggressive patriotism in our large cities than anywhere else. If the patriotism can be made as aggressive as the rottenness the problem of good government would be solved by the people taking the government into their own hands."

If corruption is to be eradicated
the people alone can do it. The fight must be made here, in the city, and the people must be made to feel that they are responsible for the government of the city.
The benefit of a victory for good government will be universal, and the evil effects of a defeat will be felt by those who have been in good government by the people. The average man does not appreciate the solemn duty he owes his city, State and his country.

The moral revolution now sweeping over the land means the death of the old government, not from the head, but from the heart.
Many men would be willing to give up their lives for the city of State if they are needed, sometimes, and this kind of patriotism cannot be too highly commended, but the man who is willing to live for his city and State every day of his life is the man that is needed now.

Encourages Philadelphia Fight.

There may be as much patriotism in giving one's time to the betterment of civic conditions and the election of good men to office, and in purifying the ballot, as in hating one's breast to the bullets of the enemy. There never was a time when the need for patriotic men in public affairs was greater than now. We need men who are not actuated alone by the public good,
and fewer of those that are in politics merely for revenue.

The strength of the lawless element is great,
but it is as nothing when it comes in contact with a public conscience thoroughly aroused.
Philadelphia, at last, seems to be awakened.
Although the gang has been strong, it is being shattered beneath the shafts of public opinion under the leadership of Mayor Weaver.
The people can overcome evil when they want to and get just as good government as they deserve, or as good as they can secure. The law-abiding people are in the majority in Philadelphia and there is hardly a community in this country in which this cannot be said. They are usually quiet, however, and do not make a noise until they are as desperate as their number. They are not hard and bold, but they are slow, and if they are not made to feel that they are wrong, they are always active, however.
While the corrupt good cities become active
only occasionally.

Blanche Somerset Discouraging
Calmly of Herself Says
She's Weary of Life.

By ROSE MARION.

The barred door of the last cell in the observation ward of the City Hospital was open. The physician in charge led the way and spoke to the occupant. He received little reply from her, but chairs were set and the artist and I were formally presented to Blanche Somerset, to whom St. Louis has given the name
Miss Mystery.

Miss Somerset had more the look of a sleepy child than of a mysterious woman. Her yellow hair was parted and braided. The braids were hanging loose.

Had Her Pretty Hands.

She took the deep red flowers I brought her and held them close to her face. She breathed in their fragrance and then held them away from her as if she meant that her senses should divide their pleasures.

She arranged them according to her own ideas of beauty and then held them against the white wall for contrast. Her well shaped white hands added to the effect of the picture. They were mentioned and she hid them under the coverlet. Not in the way of a vain person, but as if she had wearied of hearing of them.

She knew that a sketch was being made of her, but she did not "sit for a picture." In a cell several doors away a woman, giving a mental performance, but the songs, the pieces and even the repetition of her own name seemed to have no effect upon Miss Somerset.

We talked of books and pictures, the theater and music, and it seemed that I was talking to a modest young woman of feeling and education. Mystery seemed great distances away. The nurse came in with a cup of milk and asked Miss Somerset to drink it. She sat up and drank the best she could do was to take three sips and ask,
"Isn't that enough?"

Advices Girls Not to Touch Drugs.

The taste of the milk seemed to give her strength to speak of herself. When she was put back on the pillow her face flushed and moisture came to her eyes.

"I'm so sorry for it all. Sorry that I took the medicine this time. Sorry that I took it many times before. That's the cause of all my trouble."

"I like the drug. I can't tell you what it is only that it isn't morphine. I didn't mean to let the habit grow on me at first. I didn't intend that it should be a habit at all."

"I was in pain and I knew that it would help me. Tell the girls you know never to touch drugs. They lead to so many things. I'm not bad, but people think I am."

"I'm just what drugs have made me.
I do things when I'm under their influence, and then I can't understand why I've done them. I always wanted to be a trained nurse, but knowledge that I learned as a nurse taught me
the kind of drugs to use."

Not Afraid to Die.

Out in the hall the partially insane woman shrieked, "Miss Somerset didn't set herself on fire. I know she didn't.
I have been in a trance."

The words seemed to make no impression upon Miss Somerset. She closed her eyes and held her fingers near her face. When she had rested a second she began again.

"I took that drug in jail because I wanted to die. I am tired of it all.
Death means Heaven and I want to go there. I am not afraid to die. I should be glad to die now."

"I can't tell you who sold me the drug. They would punish him if I did.
I am sorry about the money that was stolen and the other things that are wrong."

"I also wanted to die because I didn't want to go to the penitentiary. The jail is bad. There is no fresh air, no good light, no warm water in which to wash. They washed my head here yesterday, and I feel so good."

Her great desire for cleanliness and my knowledge of the self analysis in which she has indulged caused me to think that she was probably an apostle
of Mary MacLane.

Never Heard of Mary MacLane.

She assured me that she had never heard of the young woman from Butte, who delighted in speaking as she
my knowledge of the self analysis in
which she has indulged caused me to think that she was probably an apostle
of Mary MacLane.

"I remember things pretty well," she said in a whisper—she seldom spoke loudly. "I remember when I was a little girl, only some things are a little hazy. I do not want to speak of the town where I was born. I have no father, no mother, but I have a sister.
She won't come to me now after all this time. Who would come?"

I spoke of returning to see her at the

PATHETIC AND CHARMING MODEL

By MARGUERITE MARTYN, A POST-DISPATCH WOMAN ARTIST.

HAVING read the stories of Blanche Somerset's career and her remarkable diary, I was predisposed to expect a model of an eccentric if not a degenerate type. But no one who has seen this girl can accuse her of looking either of these parts.

Her expression is peculiar, due to the very pale blue color of her big eyes, which, surrounded by heavy dark lashes, has a far away look. But otherwise her features are regular, almost Grecian.
One of the attendants noticed her likeness to the "head on the dollar," a modern idea of the classic profile.

Her forehead is high and oval, blond hair curling away from it; mouth a little too heavy, nose small and pretty, skin very fair—and, as she lay at the hospital, slightly flushed with fever, with tears almost constantly glistening on her cheeks, she makes a pathetic, but, from an artistic standpoint, a charming model.

hospital and she demanded, "Yes, but will you come to see me when I am in jail?"

"Father McBride comes there," she continued. "He is kind. I have not as yet seen a minister of my own faith.
I am an Episcopalian."

We spoke of Illinois, which she owned
as her State, and I mentioned the University of Illinois.

"I have seen it," she said, "it is in the State, but I have never been there to school. I wanted to go."

Sorry for Artists.

"I wanted most to be a nurse. If things ever got right I shall be a nurse.
It is hard work, but I like it. I am young yet, not quite 20."

"My mind is all right," she said,
"when I let drugs alone. Just now I am so tired that I can not do any work. I can sketch some, but I haven't tried for so long. I don't want any drugs now."

She expressed sympathy for the artist who was painting her, and she said that she would be glad to have the Portland Fair when the Missouri building was burned.

"I told her that she was too young to
demand death, and she replied:
"I will try to live if I am strong enough. I will try to do right, but just now there doesn't seem to be much
way. If there was some one to tell me what to do I could mind, but there is no one."

She seemed to have no desire to appear "mysterious" and did not poison
the atmosphere with her own story.
I told her that she was too young to
demand death, and she replied:
"I will try to live if I am strong enough. I will try to do right, but just
now there doesn't seem to be much
way. If there was some one to tell me

DENIES GIRLS UNFIT FOR EXACTING STUDY

Dean Tyler of Smith College Takes Issue With His Brother John of Amherst and Proves Girls Stand Strain Better Than Boys.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 17.—Regarding the statement of Prof. John M.
Tyler of Amherst, that girls are no longer fit physically for the exacting studies, etc., Prof. Henry M. Tyler, Dean of Smith College and brother of Prof. Tyler of Amherst, says he does not agree with him and has his doubts about his brother being correctly quoted in the lecture which he gave.

At any rate, whatever his brother's view may be upon the subject, his daughter is being fitted for Smith College. So far as relates to the studies, replies, "Oh, I want them to come here true. Of the 120 students there there is comparatively little sickness and comparatively few breakdowns, and
none are obliged to leave college."

In this respect the girls more than hold their own compared with the boys in colleges. There are many instances where girls have entered Smith who were not physically well and the faculty hesitated about admitting, who have from their gymnastic training and outdoor exercise become strong and healthy students. The strain and ex-actions of the students are not so great,
says Dean Tyler, as that of a social life. As a rule the girls who break down physically are those who undertake more than they are required by the course of studies he gave.

Every year there are parents who bring their girls to this college, and when told their daughters do not appear physically fit to enter college, reply: "Oh, I want them to come here
true. Of the 120 students there there
is comparatively little sickness and
comparatively few breakdowns, and
none are obliged to leave college."

Not so great as at home where their social life demands so much of them.
"If there is a tendency toward physical wrecks, it comes more from the strenuous life of the times," says Dean Tyler.

There are daughters in college of some of the older graduates who married soon after graduating who are among the most robust and best students. Miss Stacy Benson, at the head of the gymnasium department, says during the last 15 years the girls coming under her instruction are more vigorous and have better developed chests, and on the average fully a inch taller than the girls who came to Smith years ago.
Girls who are not strong or able to stand the more strenuous part of the gymnasium work are given less exacting work or entering the social life of the town.

SOMETHING NEW

THE DAILY

"Special Bargain"

Each day during the week of October 16 to 22 the president of our company will select some one particular instrument from our enormous stock of pianos, organs and piano players as the "Daily Special Bargain." He will reduce the regular price at least 20 per cent and from this up to as high as 50 per cent, marking same in plain figures on the regular price tag which was placed on the instrument when it entered the sales-room.

We believe this will prove another attractive feature to our popular piano store, especially in view of the fact that all our instruments are good, honest bargains at the regular tagged prices, which range as follows:

Prices of New Organs range from $25. up.	Payments $2 per Mo. up.
" Upright Pianos " 150 up.	" 4 "
" Piano Players " 150 up.	" 5 "
" Used Organs " 8 up.	" 1 "
" Square Pianos " 10 up.	" 2 "
" Upright Pianos " 75 up.	" 3 "
" Piano Players " 75 up.	" 4 "

Ask the salesman to show you the "Daily Special Bargain." It may be just the instrument you desire. If not there are several hundreds of other bargains in the building for your selection. We carry the largest stock of instruments in St. Louis and can suit any taste or pocketbook. Our store is truly the piano trading center of St. Louis. Results show this to be an absolute fact, for we are doing the greatest volume of business in the city.

All visitors, whether they purchase or not, are assured of courteous treatment when they enter our big building. We consider them our guests and want them to feel right at home.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The "Daily Special Bargain" will be selected each day at 9 o'clock a. m., so that no one connected with the company will know of it in time to give any friend or customer an advantage over others. The early caller secures the prize.

"HOOK," THE CRY FOR FAILURES

Latest Terse Term of Disapproval Is About Due in St. Louis.

SOMETHING LIKE "23"

Only Instead of "Skiddoo" It Means "Take Him Away Right Off."

"Hook!" Don't be surprised if you hear this word shouted from the gallery tonight, or the next time you go to the theater.

"Hook!" Back in little old New York, where the magic phrase "Twenty-three for yours" originated, they have "amateur nights" at East Side vaudeville theaters.

The Theatrical Trust may keep Mangle Malone, the button factory girl, from carrying a spear in the chorus, or it may thwart the ambition of Max Feinstein, the pushcart merchant's son, to convulse Broadway audiences with a Scandinavian dialect monologue. But it cannot keep either from having a few minutes' chance at fame before the most critical, the most generous and the most merciless theater-goers in New York—the patrons of a Bowery house on amateur night.

Must Make Good Here. There is no rule against the mother-in-law joke, the slapstick and the folded newspaper are not barred, and even the ballad in which each verse ends with "she unto him did say" may get a cheering "hand." But the performer must please, must make good.

Make good, and the Bowery laughs with you, and howls for more. Fail to please, and the house cries:

"Hook!" And the hook, a long, strong staff of bamboo with curved end, extends noiselessly from the wings, held by an unseen hand behind the scenes, and catches the luckless performer's body.

If the hooked one is wise he will walk rapidly toward the holder of the hook and make way for the next would-be darling of the gallery gods. But if the dreams of footlight fame are too vivid to be conjured away, he will resist, and the hook, catching his leg or arm, will make his downfall complete and drag him, struggling, into the scenery at the side.

Seventy-five per cent of business ventures are said to be failures, and the percentage of failures in an amateur night is even larger. So it is that the hook, which is a recent device for doing more quickly what used to be done by the loud and continued disapproval of the house, has passed into vogue on the Bowery. And what the Bowery hears, the rest of New York is not long in hearing, and when New York discovers a good thing, the rest of the world has ways of finding out about it.

The Hook a Good Thing. And the hook is one of these good things.

Usefulness need not be limited to theaters. When a pitcher lets one man after another walk to first base, the grandstand and bleachers can join in a cry of "Hook!"

And the captain, reaching forth an imaginary if not an actual one, can jerk the player back to the bench.

When horse-show spectators tire of an exhibitor they can cry to the high-attitude driver and his prancing steeds:

"Hook!"

And a gate will open at one side and let them out.

John Thomas Brady, who says he is "after Chief Kieley's scalp," can mail Gov. Folk a photograph of the chief, inscribed:

"Hook!"

When business men decide that they have really had enough bridge arbitrage, they can call at the Mayor's office and shout, loud enough for the Terminal Commission, behind barred doors inside, to hear:

"Hook!"

WANT TROOPS IN BELL COUNTY, KY.

Sheriff Wires Governor That Ball-Bolan Feud Is Beyond Control.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 17.—Sheriff Howard of Bell County has wired to Gov. Beckham that the Ball-Bolan feud situation is beyond his control and asked that troops be sent there. Gov. Beckham wired Sheriff Howard to confer with Circuit Judge Moses and to state for what purpose troops were needed.

The request for troops grows out of the killing of Jack Ballon at Middleboro by Frank Ball, for whose arrest and conviction $1000 reward is outstanding. Ball has been in Middleboro, surrounded by his friends, and it has been threatened that an attempt to arrest him would mean death to the arresting officers, and that if he were arrested they would take him from the jail and release him.

Gov. Beckham will send troops on the advice of the Sheriff and the Circuit Judge.
